25th International Scientific Conference ECONOMIC SCIENCE FOR RURAL DEVELOPMENT 2024

Academic Tracks:

- Sustainable Bioeconomy
- Circular Economy: Climate Change, Environmental Aspects, Cooperation, Supply Chains
- Integrated and Sustainable Regional Development
- Rural Development and Entrepreneurship
- Efficiency of Production Processes and Competitiveness of Companies
- New Dimensions in the Development of Society

Call for Papers:

Papers must be written in English.

By submitting papers to the conference, authors confirm that the submitted work is original, has not been published previously, and is not under consideration for publication elsewhere. Furthermore, authors assert that the paper's title and content align with the theme of the conference.

Prior to submission to the Conference Scientific Committee, papers must undergo proofreading. Manuscripts exhibiting serious shortcomings in layout, formatting, or language use will not be accepted for publication.

Review Process:

Submitted papers will undergo a thorough review by two reviewers. Each submitter is required to provide one review from their own country, preferably representing a different institution than the authors. The Conference Editorial Board through a blind review process will assign the second reviewer.

After the plagiarism review, the general reviewing procedure, and consideration of any remarks, the paper may be returned to the author for revision. Accepted papers will be published in the conference proceedings (ISSN 1691-30XX) by September 1 and indexed in the Web of Science™, Clarivate Analytics (formerly Thomson Reuters), CCPCI, AGRIS, CAB Abstracts, and EBSCOhost Academic Search Complete databases.

In the event of rejection by the conference reviewer, the abstract of the paper may be published in the Conference's Book of Abstracts.

The authors shall UPLOAD the complete paper (up to 10 pages), the signed and scanned review and the guarantee form to the LBTU Conference System (<https://conferences.lbtu.lv/>)
